FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CUSO Financial Services, L.P., Awards the Top Financial Advisor

CUSO Financial Services, L.P., (CFS) has announced that the CFS 2009 Top Advisor award recipient is Bakersfield native, Scott Boyd, Investment Advisor with Kern Schools Federal Credit Union (KSFCU). Advisors from credit unions across the country have a goal of earning the CFS Top Advisor award. As a nationwide broker-dealer, CFS has built a relationship with KSFCU and 128 other credit unions to provide Members with Investment Services; and each year, CFS selects its top financial advisor countrywide who demonstrates unparalleled service, considerable contribution to the profession, a high level of generated business for the year, and an enduring commitment to excellence. Boyd will be honored at the award ceremony held at the annual CFS Conference in August. “Scott’s demonstration of expertise and assurance to provide our Members with the best suited investment products are excellent; the CFS 2009 Top Advisor award is an incredible achievement,” said Steve Renock, President/CEO of Kern Schools Federal Credit Union.

Scott Boyd graduated from Henderson State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology and Chemistry. Boyd has been a Financial Advisor for over 30 years; he specializes in Estate and Retirement Planning, as well as wealth accumulation, holds the series 7, 6, 22, 63, 66, 24 securities licenses, the California State Insurance License, and is FINRA (Financial Industry Regulatory Authority) registered in California, Oregon, Texas, Arizona, and Missouri. Boyd resides in Hart Flat with his wife Lisa.
